Dear Sir:

The enclosed negative search reports indicate the fine observing weather we have had here during October, 1963.

Many thanks for the chart of Nova Herulis and the surrounding field. It came on Oct. 26th, and I used it that night. The 12th magnitude star 3' east of the nova was quite difficult to see. I think my 8" needs a new coating of aluminium or silver! You will find my estimates for the Nova enclosed. It has certainly not been very spectacular.

I see by the November Sky & Telescope that Comet 1963e has put in an appearance. It seems to be fairly low in the south at sunrise, so it is doubtful if it can be seen from here.
